Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 03 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Another fine and dry day.

Today:
A breezy morning, with any frost or fog patches quickly melting away. A bright day for all, but with the clearest skies and sunniest weather in the west of the region, as cloud lingers on a bit in the east. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining dry throughout. Feeling chilly as temperatures drop under clear skies, along with light winds there is a good chance for frost and some rural fog patches to form. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Sunday:
Another dry and mild day with clear skies and plenty of sunshine throughout. Turning breezy later and very unsettled overnight as showers, possibly wintry, arrive. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
A period of unsettled and cold weather, with widespread frosts each night. Snow showers with strong winds Monday, easing and turning to sleet Tuesday. Slightly less cold Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.